

The Ark

I am Noah's Ark,
Taking animals through the dark,
I hear a snake hiss,
As it comes from the abyss,
I am Noah's Ark,
Taking animals though the dark,
I am led by a man called Noah,
Now he brings a huge great boah!
I am Noah's Ark,
Taking animals though the dark,
In the distance I hear a deadly roar
Then a vicious lion enters the door,
I am Noah's Ark,
Taking animals though the dark.

My amazing Ark

The wet clear rain twirled though the air.
The pink, feathery flamingos hopped into my ark.
The grey, furry koalas hugged the wooden beams.
The grey, magical narwhals tapped the door of my ark.
The white, friendly polar bears swayed on my ark.
The yellow, spotty giraffes danced their way into my ark.
The monkeys giggled as they swung around my ark.
The storm screamed as the rain drops danced through the sky.

The Boat of Life - Noah

I am a boat getting built,
I'll hold two of every animal.
There is a flood coming soon,
That is what Noah says.

I can see the storm coming,
I can see the animals running.
All the food is loaded,
All the animals are onboard.

The rain is falling,
The waters are rising.
I am afloat,
I am a lifeboat.

The sun starts shining.
A bird has found land.
My job is done,
It all went as God planned.
